

I love my satellite radio. The service and variety is far superior to broadcast. It would clearly be against the best interests of consumers to stifle XM's ability to compete by not allowing them to provide weather and traffic.